At the time Tuesday night there was a gathering of employees and officials of the American Thread Company for the purpose of celebrating the annual event of presenting prizes to plant employees who during the past year have kept their home yards and window boxes in best condition.

The program opened soon after 8 o'clock, some three hundred being present. Following the singing of America by the assembly, Miss Ruth Herrick sang a solo which received a merited encore.

The principal entertainment of the evening was in the hands of Thompson Mead, who kept the audience in an uproar with his clever impersonations of various types of people using slang and wags to wit over the effect of the program.
